Theme

From the quiet campus of Alma Mater, just now showing the promise of returning spring, to her scores of Alumni and undergraduates in all the armed services on Freedom's farflung battle fronts, this issue of THE BUCCANEER is dedicated as a message from home. The members of the Staff have labored earnestly to make each page a faithful reflection of the college life our men in arms have known and shared with us who remain. Within its covers there breathes our solemn pride, our unshaken confidence, and our united prayers that our gallant boys may return from victory on the battlefield to take up the struggle for the greater victory that must be won in the new times of peace that lie ahead.

The Editor.

DR. FRANK FIELD,

Throughout this 1943 Buccaneer we have endeavored to mirror all the phases of life at Tennessee State as we have lived and loved it from the stages of lowly sophomores to lordly seniors. We sincerely hope that from this book your conception of life at TSC will be worthy of the place it holds in our hearts.

We the class of nineteen forty-three pledge our loyalty both to our Alma Mater and to our nation. In the past four years there has been inculcated into our minds and hearts a loyalty and devotion to those ideals which we hold high in our nation. As we leave our Alma Mater we pledge to continue to uphold the ideals both of our school and our country.
